

Interior Design at WOLF ARCHITECTS

Our comprehensive approach to Architecture provides our clients with a complete package integrating interior design from the early stages of the design process.

“Living from the inside out..”

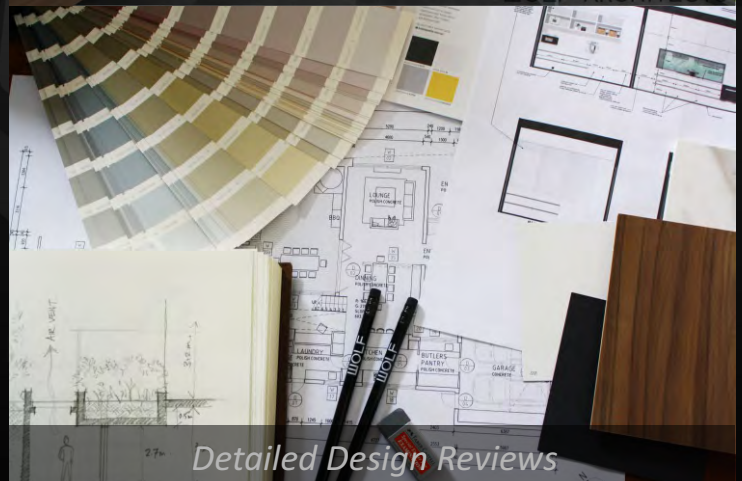

Architects are trained to understand space; we are the only professionals with the ability to visualize and get the most out of a space from both a practical and artistic perspective. At WOLF ARCHITECTS we strive to make use of every volume of space available within the home. Avoiding wasted space, providing maximum storage and enhancing the lives of those inhabiting the space are just a few of the benefits that interior design by WOLF ARCHITECTS can have on your dream home.

Knowledge and expertise in interior design is therefore paramount and why we offer interior design as an integrated part of our service. In view of this, our service represents great value for money and our clients benefit from working with our in house interior designers on a range of aspects throughout the design process. Some of these include joinery design, selection of materials and finishes along with fittings, appliances and fixtures, furniture layout and positioning, staircase and entry design, lighting design, interior detailing and if required our team will even custom design furniture and fittings.

As part of our interior design service our clients are provided with comprehensive coloured design drawings that indicate materiality, appliance and furniture style and location along with notes to explain exactly how everything should work. 3D artist impressions and digital models also assist to provide a realistic impression of the interior and fully explain the design.

Regular meetings are scheduled during the interior design phase where our clients have the opportunity to review the drawings with our designers. During these meetings we may arrange viewing of samples for various products and finishes together to assist with the selection of these important elements.

The WOLF design team is not only limited to Architects and interior designers, we also have experts in landscape design who are engaged in the design process. Contact us for more information about other services we offer.

Interior Design at WOLF ARCHITECTS

The kitchen is the heart of the home and a focal point of many WOLF Designs. Our innovative team has the ability to design stylish yet impressively functional kitchen areas. Even a minimal kitchen as pictured on the right is able to encompass maximum efficiency in terms of storage and family life through clever interior design.

Likewise the kitchen is more than just a functional space; often it's the central control tower of the home by which other areas can be surveyed from, or a stage by which the art of cooking is performed at various times throughout the day. Our clients love the fact that their kitchen will not only look and feel great but provides a space that is comfortable to cook and even easier to keep clean.

“Interiors that inspire..”

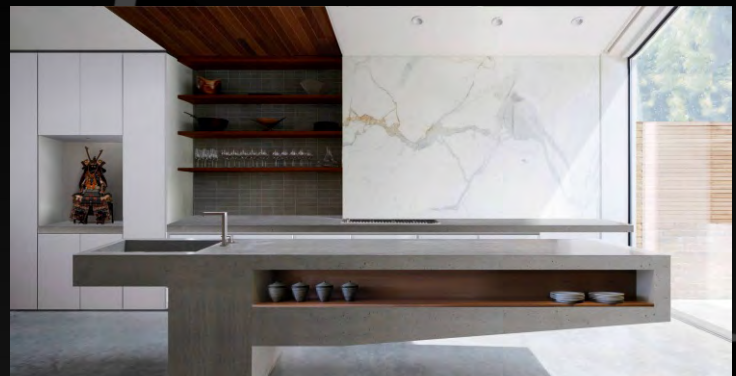

We spend more time in the bathroom than we actually realise so why not celebrate the act of bathing and make the space enjoyable. A bathroom designed by WOLF ARCHITECTS has the ability to refresh the mind and rejuvenate the soul. Our interior design team is always looking for new ways to open up bathrooms to other spaces in the home and even the outdoors.

Stairs at WOLF ARCHITECTS are an opportunity to create a sculptural masterpiece within the home that serves as not only a functional element but a visually striking feature. At the same time it is important that the stair is both beautiful and practical creating an enticing journey throughout the levels of the home.

We often refer to them as stair rooms rather than a stair case as we aim to create a fantastic space and experience that one can feel with their feet. We pay attention to the texture, density, temperatures and even the sounds that different materials make when considering their suitability for the stair.

“House your dreams..”

WOLF ARCHITECTS specialise in creating exceptional residences that last a lifetime. We strive to create uplifting environments by maximising the use of space and light, thus we base our designs around the natural sun light. We study the way light moves around the property during the day ensuring that every space has a natural ambience. Our team uses their knowledge and experience to tailor the design specifically to allow light in from multiple directions. This means that most spaces are flooded with natural light during the day removing the need to turn on any lights when the sun is up.

Designed for Function and Beauty

Infinite Detail

Sculptural Features

Interiors Designed for Living